Since 1951 the harbor at Katy Rybackie (Bodenwinkel-Q55/Y82) has been deepened and enlarged, so that it could be used as a fishing harbor. A shipyard for construction and repair of fishing boats has been set up. The boats which are built there are of oak, 10 meters long and 3.6 meters broad, and are intended for fishing in the Zalew Wislany. They are not fitted out with motors.

Comment:

dredging operations were in progress in this small harbor which up to that time was usable only by motor boats and sailboats. This harbor is located at the western end of the Mierzeja Wislana.
